

15 Terms and Conditions of Supply

15.1 E-books are protected by copyright. As a user, you agree to acknowledge and respect this copyright. You are entitled to the personal use of your digital product.

15.2 When buying a digital product (e-book) you do not acquire property. You receive the unlimited rights for personal usage of a digital product, which cannot be transferred.

15.3 You are allowed to print it or copy it to another device; but only for personal use. The transfer of a digital product, a copy of that product, or a printout to third parties is not allowed; neither in full nor in parts. In particular, making the product available for use and/or download over the internet or in corporate networks, lending, resale, or any other commercial use is strictly prohibited.

15.4 Refund Policy 'no reason'

To submit a 'no reason' refund request, please contact debi@tomorrowbusinessgroup.com stating Refund Request in the subject box

An e-book you purchase from Tomorrow's Business Ltd is eligible for a 'no reason' refund if we receive your request within seven days of the date of purchase. We will process a full refund to the method used to purchase the item within 28 days

15.5 Refund Policy 'valid reason'

If an e-book does not perform as described by us, you may be refunded if we receive your request within 30 days of purchase.

To submit a refund request, please contact debi@tomorrowbusinessgroup.com stating Refund Request in the subject box with your reason

*we take a common sense approach to valid reasons and you're invited to contact us if you're in anyway unhappy with your purchase so it can be resolved.
